

Coordinating conjunctions

I planned to bake a cake today and needed to buy some ingredients. I wanted to buy them at the nearby supermarket, but it was unexpectedly closed.

My father taught me discipline and resilience. He was strict yet affectionate. My father's teachings have served me well in life, for they have prepared me to face everyday challenges.

For	Reason	She was nervous about the exam, for she hadn't studied enough.
And	Addition	I woke up early, and I went for a run.
Nor	Negation	I don't like coffee, nor do I like tea.
But	Contrast	He's not a lawyer but a teacher.
Or	Choice	Should we take the stairs or the elevator?
Yet	Despite something	They have little money, yet they are always happy.
So	Cause and effect	The road was slippery, so I drove slowly.